

American Board of Veterinary Practitioners

Dr. Weigner is the only veterinarian in Georgia to be Board Certified in Feline Practice by the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners.

What does that mean? It means that your veterinarian made a choice to undergo a very long, very difficult process of additional studies and examination - a process that can take up to three years to complete - to become a Board Certified Specialist.

When the work was accepted and the exam was passed, your veterinarian was awarded the title of Diplomate. It doesn't end there, though.

Diplomates must prepare and recertify in their specialty every 10 years.

ABVP Diplomates have proven knowledge and expertise above and beyond what is required to practice veterinary medicine. By having your cat seen by an ABVP

Diplomate, you are making sure that they receive expert treatment. Dr. Weigner feels a very strong commitment to providing the best possible care. In fact, the only motivation for becoming an ABVP Diplomate is simply that...Excellence.
